

More than 100 international students participate in the university project 'The value of Human Rights on the Camino de Santiago'

The international university project 'The Value of human rights on the Camino de Santiago: harnessing the power of tourism to promote cross-cultural dialogue and achieve the sustainable development goals' brings together representatives of universities from three continents from 17 to 23 March to walk this pilgrimage route and participate in the International University Forum in Galicia.

Speaking to the participants, the executive secretary of the Compostela Group of Universities, María Teresa Carballeira Rivera, reminded them that from today they would become pilgrims. "Travellers who travel through strange lands and enjoy an important quality, they are free and transmitters of values and knowledge", she explained. In addition, she noted that the institution she runs is proud to participate in the initiative. Read the full article on our website.
